Death Doula & Swedish Death Cleaning Services

Effective Date: 04/29/2026

At Dawn of Aging, we are honored to support individuals and families during end-of-life transitions and the deeply personal process of Swedish Death Cleaning. We recognize that this work involves sensitive conversations, private environments, and meaningful life details. Your trust is treated with the highest level of respect and care.

1. Nature of Services

Our services as a death doula and Swedish Death Cleaning guide are non-medical. We provide emotional, practical, and organizational support, but we do not provide medical care, diagnosis, or treatment.

2. Commitment to Privacy

We are committed to maintaining the confidentiality of all personal, family, and household information shared with us, including:

- Personal histories, stories, and reflections
- Family dynamics and relationships
- Health-related discussions (as voluntarily shared)
- Contents of the home, belongings, and documents

All information is used solely for the purpose of supporting you through our services.

3. Respect for the Home & Personal Belongings

Swedish death cleaning involves reviewing and organizing personal possessions. We approach this work with discretion and respect. We:

- Do not remove, document, photograph, or share information about items without explicit permission
- Honor the emotional significance of belongings
- Maintain strict discretion regarding what is seen, discussed, or handled within the home

4. Confidentiality Practices

We do not share, sell, or disclose your personal information to any third party under any circumstances, except:

- When you have given explicit permission
- When required by law

We take reasonable steps to ensure that any notes, communications, or records are kept secure and private.

5. HIPAA Statement

As a non-medical service provider, we are not classified as a “covered entity” under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA).

However, we voluntarily uphold confidentiality practices that reflect the spirit of those protections and are committed to safeguarding your personal and sensitive information at all times.

6. Dignity & Discretion

We understand that end-of-life care and legacy work require compassion and trust. All interactions are conducted with professionalism, sensitivity, and respect for your dignity, beliefs, and wishes.

7. Your Rights & Preferences

You may request at any time:

- That certain topics or information remain off-limits
- That we limit or stop record-keeping
- That any stored information be deleted

We will honor your preferences whenever possible.
